Franco-American partners .phrase, the "lessening of international tension." It could hardly be otherwise. For such a lessening would be -- economically, politi-cally and socially-in the countries. The thesis that the policy of all three governments is controlled by the "Monopolists"; that their power and their profits are dependent on the armament expenditure that results from tension; that they are planning to "unleash a third world war" in the belief that it would bring them even greater power and greater profits; all this is an attractive and sometimes effective theme for Communist propaganda. But it does not bear cool examina-Capitalist profits from the manufacture of arms are, even at a peak of rearmament, a small proportion of the whole. Capitalism has many ways of making profits (whether they be regarded as the reward of enterprise or as a result of exploitation) and Western Germany is at the moment an outstanding proof that the "capitalist class" and the "monopolists" can be exceedingly prosperous in a country which has no armed forces and no armaments industry.

PART from other considerations tand there are many) a lessening of international tensions would be a direct and immediate economic advantage not only to the "workers" but to the "enpitalists" o Britain, France and the United States. It is demanded by the coldest selfinterest as well as by other reasons. That it should be the objective of the policy of the three governments is dictated by facts as well as by feeling. Yet the ending of tension and the elimination of conflict behardly be looked for so long as it is a basic principle of Communist between the "two camps" is an historical duty, and the function of the Soviet Union is to be "h powerful and open base for a world revolutionary movement." there is the further conmediate interests of the Soviet Union may seem in the eyes of its rulers to call not for the abandonment of that long-term objective, but for temporary suspension.

THE thinking behind all the recent three power discussions both before and at the London meeting of the foreign ministers is Communist charges had been possibility. But the other is wider. It is to test and explore the possibility of holding reasonable and not unfriendly negotiations with the Russians; to ascortain if there is a real chance of a relaxation of tension; and to discover whether there is now hope for "agreements of a more nctor" oven though they might necessarily have to be "within the limits permitted by the two systems of government."

Dramatic Exposure Of Extorted Germ Warfare Confessions FACTS PRESENTED TO

New York, Oct. 26.

The United States charged today that Soviet "personnel" directed the extortion of confessions to waging germ warfare from captured American airmen in Korea.

Opening the debate in the Political Committee of the United Nations General Assembly, Dr Charles Mayo, of the United States, said that in some cases the confessions of the airmen were made after the Korean armistice was signed.

He submitted sworn statements from the fliers made after their repatriation.

"Does this not raise a question in our minds?" the United States representative asked. "How seriously do the Communists take the armistice agreement? Their guns cease firing but still - to the very moment of repatriation - they torture the bodies and minds of prisoners to get ammunition for their spurious propaganda war."

Dr Mayo, an eminent American physician, said that the confessions from the airmen were obtained by the scientific method of the "conditioned reflex" developed by the Soviet biologist Pavlov.

Anglo-U.S. Atômic Pact Said Near

By HAROLD GUARD

London, Oct. 26. An Anglo-American pact on atomic energy development is believed to be in the making, qualified observers said today.

Since the return from Washington of Lord Cherwell, atomic energy adviser to the Prime Minister, Sir Winston Churchill, they said, there has been enough evidence to bear out conjectures that Russia's progress in atomic energy had provided the spull for the Ebhelusion of such a pact, long deferred for security reasons.

Resolution On Tunisia Fails To Obtain Two-Thirds Majority

United Nations, Oct. 26.

The Political Committee of the General Assembly today approved, by 29 to 22 votes, with five abstentions, an Arab-Asian resolution on Tunisia which, however will not be ratified in the plenary session as it failed to obtain the necessary two-thirds majority.

in a much shorter debate than on Morocco, the Political Committee approved the Arab-Asian resolution, which recommended that all measures should be taken to enable the Tunisian people to enjoy full sovereignty and to obtain complete independence.

As on former occasions, France was absent from the debate as a protest against this North African question being considered by the United Nations.

Bidding Simple For Point Count:

By OSWALD JACOBY

THE bidding of today's hand was very simple for players who use the point count. South showed a count of 19 to 21 points by opening the bldding with one of a suit and then jumping to two no-trump at his second turn. North had a count of 15 points, and knew that the combined count was 34 to 36 points. This was enough for a small alam, but not enough for a grand slam, so North wasted no time in bidding the slam.

You usually hav in adequate play for a slam ex ract if you have a count of 33 points in the combined hands. This doesn't mean to say that you can always win 12 tricks with such a count. The cards may break badly, for one thing. For another, the slam may be there for the taking only if you play your cards skilfully.

When West opened the three of spades in today's hand, South didn't think carefully enough. He counted three spade tricks, four hearts, and two clubs, and came to the correct conclusion that the slam would depend on

MONTY MEETS "THE REST"

Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery shakes hands with the "Rest of the World" team before the start of the Football Association's 90th Anniversary match at Wembley which England drew 4-4 with the FIFA team.

Years Old

By J.W. TAYLOR

On October 26, ninety years ago, representatives of 11. England football clubs, including the "W. O. War Office," met at the Freemason's Tavern in Great Queen Street, London, and resolved "that the clubs represented at this meeting now form themselves into an Association to be called 'The Football Association'." This done, the minutes of the meeting recorded: "Whereupon the following clubs were enrolled: N. N. Kilburn, Barnes, W. O. War Office, Crusaders, Forest Leytonstone, and (the joint) Percival House and Blackheath."

Thus did a small group of club representatives lay the foundations of the * English Football Association, one of the most powerful sporting forces in the world, whose reputation for clean, fair and efficient government of the sport is universally admired. So well and harmoniously has it conducted its own affairs that in the 90 years of its existence there have been three secretaries, including Sir Stanley Rous, the present one, and changes in its laws have been equally few and are looked upon ng a model the world over.

EXPORT EXPANSION HALTED

London, Oct. 26. A message in today's Financial Times declared that the expansion of German exports to South America has been halted by the difficulty of securing a corresponding expansion of imports.

German imports from South America is clashing with Germany's desire to liberalise her trade with the United States," this newspaper's Bonn correspondent claimed.

"The necessity of increasing

"Germany will liberaliso mports from the dollar area to a certain extent after January 1.

"The extent of this liberalisation however will be much. smaller than was originally assumed in the light of Germany's dollar balances, and by the 250 million dollar annual expenditure of United States troops stationed in Germany.

"The more Germany buys from the dollar area, the less
It is feared she can buy from South American countries, particularly wheat, meat, cotton, copper and other raw

"Therefore, the list of goods eligible for quota-free imports from America may turn out to be not much larger than the former dollar retention scheme,

"The German intention is to review the whole situation early next year, possibly in connection with the visit of Minister Erhand to the Mexico exhibition, and his intended round trip through South America," the Financial Times. correspondent added .- Reuter

The Pope arrives in Rome from his summer residence at Castel Gandolfo to perform the opening ceremony at the new North American College on the Janiculum IIII. Rarely does a Pope attend ceremonies of this kind outside the Vatican, and on this occasion His Hollness was accompanied by 15 Cardinals. The new College Has 347 rooms, and stands in 15 acres of park. The cost (nearly £1.500,000) was subscribed by American Catholics .- Ex-

For British Firms' Hopes

Washington, Oct. 26.

British firms' ambitions to share the big money contracts awarded by the U.S. Government got a sharp knock with the news that President Eisenhöwer is unwilling to risk stirring up trouble umong the protectionist Republicans of Congress.

He has decided not to order that the Buy American Act be relaxed.

Such a move, inspired by criticism of America's rejection of English Electric's low bid (£1,571,428) to help build the Chief Joseph Dam in the State of Washington, would have meant the wide opening of United States markets.

Under the Act, foreign firms', way of easing the Act's vaguely prices must be 25 per cent lower worded terms.

Importance Of Adjustments In U.S. Economy

London, Oct. 26. The adjustments in Europe entalled by an American shift from security to protection, though potentially important in themselves, are as nothing to the adjustments involved in the U.S.

Perhaps the most important is a mental adjustment: since the Russians exploded their hydrogen weapon on August 12, the Americans are living with some possibilities for their homeland that they have never had to live with before.
